Description:

Selling is about influencing desired outcomes from others. Effective sellers create a context in which the buyers convince themselves to buy from you. Ignore those oft-told “closing” techniques. Stick with the real issues. Making the sale should be the logical, anticipated result of assessing a client’s needs and articulating the solution. Does your job success depend largely on influencing a desired action from those you serve? If so, congratulations. You sell for a living. I’ve often thought of those singular, defining words that trigger the sale. More than just words, they represented a pathway to my desired results. I call them ‘Pathwords’. You now have 44 of these pathwords. And they all begin with the letter “P”. Need a key word to make your next sale? I GOTTA P! for that.
